

Equal Opportunity Policy

When referenced in this document International School of Performing Arts (ISPA) includes the Australian International Girls Choir (AIGC).

At the International School of Performing Arts (ISPA) everyone is valued. We aim to foster tolerance, honesty, cooperation and mutual respect. As a treble voice choir that combines choral singing with movement, the Australian International Girls Choir (AIGC) provides equal opportunity for girls aged 5 to 12. ISPA school programs provide equal opportunity for all. We endeavour to consciously include anyone who wishes to be involved in our activities.

At ISPA we aim to promote equality and positive relationships between students, staff members, parents and members of the wider community. We recognise the importance of a safe environment which encourages open and forward thinking so that our students' physical, emotional and intellectual needs can be nurtured and developed.

At ISPA, our students come from diverse backgrounds and experiences. Our community seeks to include people:

- from various religious, cultural and linguistic backgrounds;
- with differences in learning abilities and styles;
- with different physical abilities;
- with physical or mental health conditions;
- with differing sexual orientations;
- with differing gender identities;
- from diverse home, family and financial circumstances; and
- with different levels of previous performing arts experiences.

In order to include those who wish to be involved and to help them to flourish, ISPA will endeavour to:

- provide a secure environment in which all students, staff and participants can be healthy and safe and feel comfortable to make a positive contribution;
- provide a learning environment where all individuals feel a sense of belonging;
- actively challenge discrimination and disadvantage;
- monitor the needs of each student and respect their individual learning styles and rates of physical, emotional and intellectual development;
- include and value the contribution of all families to our understanding of equality and diversity;
- use inclusive language;
- take reports of harassment or bullying behaviour seriously and to investigate and respond appropriately; and
- respond to any allegations or suspicion of inappropriate behaviour on the part of students, parents, staff or any other associate of the organisation in accordance with ISPA's Child Protection Policy and Child Safe Code of Conduct.

To achieve these aims, ISPA commits to:

- publishing and sharing our policies with the ISPA community;
- working with parents, students and teachers to create tailored support plans where appropriate;
- using available information to respond to a student's diverse needs and overcoming potential barriers to learning;
- ensuring that all reasonable adjustments are made to ensure equality of opportunity;
- having high expectations of behaviour for our staff members, students and ISPA families; and
- having a zero-tolerance approach to harassment or bullying of any kind.

Resolution of Disputes and Issues of Concern

ISPA will not tolerate bullying, harassment or other inappropriate behaviour from staff, students, parents, guardians or other family members. No staff member, student, parent or family member has the right to harass or bully and no staff member, student, parent or family member has to put up with being harassed or bullied.

Harassment may involve inappropriate actions, behaviour, comments or physical contact that is objectionable, causes offence or makes the victim feel offended, humiliated, intimidated, frightened and/or uncomfortable. Bullying is repeated, unreasonable behaviour that victimises, humiliates, undermines or threatens an individual and creates a risk to physical or mental health and safety.

A student, parent or guardian who feels they have been victimised in any way should speak with ISPA venue staff or contact the ISPA Head Office to report the incident.

Australian International Girls Choir

The AIGC is an all-female, treble-voiced choir.

ISPA is committed to the principles of diversity and to supporting all members of our community. We aim to provide an environment that is conducive to the wellbeing and happiness of all choristers and staff.

Exclusions

Competitive auditions are a reality of the performing arts. Some aspects of involvement in the Australian International Girls Choir are restricted to those who audition and successfully meet all audition criteria, which may include:

- an assessment of vocal quality;
- level of independence when holding a vocal part;
- ability to absorb and perform complicated dance routines;
- general musicianship; and
- stage and presentation skills, including navigating a multi-level stage and low lighting.

Some aspects of involvement are based on meeting selection criteria of a part, role or engagement. These criteria include auditions or selections for:

- special singing, dance and drama parts in AIGC concerts;
- touring choirs;
- engagements and special performances; and
- leadership positions and awards.

In the case of public choir engagements, selection may be based on the requirements and limitations imposed by the organisation running the event as well as particular venues at which the choir performs.

Auditions

The Artistic Director sets criteria for each part, performance or group. In every AIGC audition the staff member leading the audition will explain the criteria to the participating girls and coach them on how to deliver their best possible audition with those criteria in mind. Any auditioning chorister with disabilities or specific support needs will receive assistance to complete the audition where possible.

We invite any student, or parent of a student, enrolled in the AIGC or an ASPA school program to contact us to discuss equal opportunity and diversity,

Nicole Muir
CEO
